CANNABIS LEGAL GROUP ANNOUNCES
MICHIGAN SMALL CANNABUSINESS ASSOCIATION

ROYAL OAK, MICHIGAN—The Michigan Licensing and Regulatory Affairs group is slamming the door in the faces of small business entrepreneurs who want to be a part of the Cannabis Industry in Michigan. The Michigan Medical Marijuana Facilities License Act, which has created the commercial marijuana industry in Michigan, is being hijacked by “Big Cannabis.” LARA has suggested to the state licensing board that those wanting to own cannabis dispensaries and other entities be required to have access to a minimum of $300,000 cash liquidity. “This flies in the face of what small business is about. These capital requirements are unnecessary and unfair. Small businesses are able to run successful businesses without such large amount of cash on hand” said Attorney Barton W. Morris, Jr., founder of Cannabis Legal Group and now the Michigan Small Cannabusiness Association. “The State Of Michigan must not deny qualified, small businesses out of the Cannabis Industry, by placing large monetary liquidity requirements”, Morris went on to say.

In response to this ill-advised proposal, Barton W. Morris, Jr. has created the Michigan Small Cannabusiness Association to come to the aid of deserving entrepreneurs who could be shut out. By joining together under one umbrella, the rights of these small business people will be preserved.

Please visit MISCBA.com for information on how to become a member today of Michigan Small Cannabusiness Association.

Barton W. Morris, Jr. is available for interviews on his new entity.
